

Medic Mentor

Why are hundreds of doctors and medical students becoming Medic Mentors?

'Becoming a Medic Mentor was the single best thing that I could have done to enhance my CV. I have a collection of certificates, feedback and a scholarship to add to my portfolio. It put the fun back into Medicine and working with other Mentors and teaching students is incredibly rewarding.'

Akash Bhalla, Education Scholar
3rd Year Medical Student

It's free and simple to join!

Medic Mentor is the UK's largest network of doctors and medical students with a passion for teaching and inspiring prospective students. At the heart of Medic Mentor are the values of peer-assisted learning and widening access to medicine. Aspiring secondary school students receive free mentorship via student societies and we offer free places to students and parents from disadvantaged backgrounds through the Student Diversity Fund. The Mentors find this a highly rewarding experience, by participating in a range of teaching activities that boost CVs, enhance transferable skills and support their peers. Our Medic Mentors are passionate about encouraging enthusiastic students and want to make a difference on a national level.

Presenting at National Conferences

Medic Mentors volunteer to participate at Insight into Medicine Day Conferences, which take place across the UK. Presenters receive certificates, structured feedback about their presentation skills, travel expenses and an opportunity to win the 'best oral presentation' prize.

Publication Opportunities

Medic Mentors can publish blog and magazine articles, as well as author books for prospective medical students.

Scholarships and Prizes

Medic Mentor awarded 10 medical student scholarships this year and run a variety of prizes for medical students and doctors. These include, Mentor of the year, best written article, presentation and author prizes.

Teaching Opportunities

There are a range of valuable teaching opportunities at many events, courses and workshops throughout the country. One of the most rewarding experiences, is mentoring a secondary school student society. This might include, school visits, or simply some advice via email or over the phone. Medical students have an opportunity to take on part-time paid presenter roles, which provides valuable learning experiences and also enables them to take up flexible employment to support them during their studies.

Complete your Medic Mentor registration form at <http://www.medicmentor.org/mentors.html>